

PRZEMYSL FALLS BEFORE RUSSIANS

Depleted Garrison Sur- renders After A Defense of Many Months

OPENS DOOR TO CRACOW

London Newspapers Assert Fall Marks Most Important Cap- ture of the War

FORTRESS FELL WITH HONOR

London, March 22.—(10:15 p. m.)—The long investment of the mid Galician fortress of Przemyśl has ended. Depleted by disease, subsisting on horse flesh and surrounded by a superior force of Russians, the garrison has surrendered to the besieging army after a defense lasting many months, which up to the present is recorded as Austria's most noteworthy contribution to the war.

Petrograd, London and Paris are celebrating the event tonight—Petrograd and Paris in the spontaneous manner characteristic of those cities; London with silent and grim satisfaction, which is the Briton's way.

Opens the Door to Cracow.

The newspapers asserted that the fall of the fortress marks the most important capture of the war, not excepting Antwerp, in that it not only releases considerable Russian forces which can be thrown into the fluctuating struggle in the Carpathians, but opens the door to Cracow and the plains of Hungary. It is argued moreover that the morale effect of the surrender will be tremendous, the theory of the allies being that it will stimulate feeling in their favor both in Roumania and Bulgaria just as the operations in the Dardanelles are causing an agitation in Greece and Italy.

The Italian situation is receiving renewed attention by the press of the allies although rumors, rather than facts seem to be the basis of most of the despatches. The Italian embassy at London had no confirmation tonight of the report that freight traffic between Italy and Germany, by way of Switzerland had been stopped, "nor was there any confirmation of the reported massing of Austrian and German troops along the Austrian littoral or the assembling of artillery at Trieste."

Fortress Falls with Honor.

Przemyśl fell with honor, the British press concedes, for it withstood the onslaughts longer than any place during the war, the investment having begun about September 16th, something more than six months ago. The duration of the siege compared with the length of time it took the Germans to capture such strongholds as Liege, Namur and Antwerp was due to two causes, one being the desire of the Russians to keep the loss of life among the besieging army at a minimum, the other to the lack of great guns, which the Germans had in Belgium.

The investment was not a close one, the garrison having had up until recently a radius of about 12 miles in which to move about and some despatches told of shooting expeditions indulged in by the officers of the garrison. An aeroplane post was maintained almost up to the last and it is said that even some scanty food supplies were carried in this way.

The Przemyśl garrison was estimated at 80,000 men last September and last week it was reported that it had diminished to 25,000. There have been recurrent reports of cholera and other diseases, but these were as vague as many of the premature reports regarding its surrender.

Claim Recapture of Memel.

Nothing of great importance has been recorded over night in the western war zone. In the east, aside from the fall of Przemyśl, the situation around the German port of Memel is the most interesting. From this town the Germans maintain they have driven the Russians, while a controversy is being waged by the press of the two countries as to the merits of the Russian contention that civilians fired on them in this latest incursion in east Prussia—an act which demanded reprisals.

There is no late news from the Dardanelles, and the belief in England seems to be that the operations will perhaps be more protected than at first expected.

BARGES TO GO FROM

LA SALLE TO NEW ORLEANS
Chicago, March 22.—A fleet of barges will leave LaSalle, Ill., for New Orleans May 1st, inaugurating water freight service with San Francisco and other points on the coast, according to an announcement tonight of officers of the Chicago, St. Louis and Gulf transportation company. Freight from this city will be shipped by rail to LaSalle, 100 miles, and there put in the barges.

GUNS OF MORRO CASTLE HOLD GERMAN STEAMER PRISONER

Washington Officials Consider Question of Whether Captain Shall be Prosecuted for Attempting to Leave Without Clearance Papers.

Washington, March 22.—While the guns of Morro Castle held the Hamburg-American liner Odenwald prisoner in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, officials of the United States government are considering the question whether the steamer's captain shall be prosecuted for his attempt to leave San Juan Sunday without clearance papers. It is hoped that no decision will be reached until more complete reports are received from the authorities at San Juan. Lieut. Colonel Burnham, commanding the Porto Rican regiment, cabled the war department today that it had been necessary to fire shots across the Odenwald's bow to keep her from putting to sea Sunday, although on Friday, in the presence of the customs collector he had formally warned the captain that he would be fired upon if he started out of the harbor without being cleared. Clearance has been withheld. The ship, it is understood, has no other cargo than coal and supplies.

Officials of the state, war, treasury and justice departments were in conference over the case today and they will consult further when complete reports have been received. At the German embassy it was stated that nothing was known there of the case officially and there was no comment to be made.

WILSON CONSIDERS DRAFT OF NOTE PRESENTING VIEWS ON BLOCKADE

Fact That Communication Will Go Forward in a Few Days is Stated Officially at White House.

Washington, March 22.—President Wilson had under consideration today the draft of a note soon to be sent to Great Britain and France presenting the views of the United States government on the blockade of commerce between Germany and neutral countries. The fact that the communication would go forward within a few days was stated officially at the white house. No statement as to its character was made, though in well informed official quarters it was understood that strong objection would be voiced against the blockade on the ground that it was based on no precedent in law or history.

That the attitude of the United States would be the same as that held during the civil war on the subject of blockade was indicated by some officials who suggested that since the recent exchange of notes with Great Britain there had been a popular misconception as to the position of the Washington government in 1863.

PRIZE COURT ORDERS MONEY BE PAID ON AMERICAN SHIPMENTS

LONDON, March 22.—(11:20 p. m.)—The prize court ordered paid today $1,600,000 on American shipments of four and wheat detained on board the Norwegian ships Albert Noble and Bjornstjerne Bjornsen and the Swedish steamer Friedland. So far as known this is the first money to be paid out by the prize court on American foodstuffs seized. The owners of the cargoes of foodstuffs on board the American Steamer Wilhelmina destined for Germany are being discouraged over the delay of the prize court in giving the case a hearing. It now seems unlikely that the case will come up for March 29th, the date for which it was tentatively set after a previous postponement.

CLAIMS TOTALLING $14,000,000 MAY BE THROWN OUT OF COURT

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Claims aggregating $14,000,000, many of them growing out of damage done in the south by federal troops during the civil war, will be thrown out of court if the court of claims sustains an interpretation placed by the department of justice upon a provision of the omnibus claims bill passed by the last congress.

The department bases its position on section five of the new law which provides that hereafter the court of claims shall not have jurisdiction over any claim against the United States government growing out of property damage, use of stores and supplies or occupation of real-estate by the military and naval forces of the United States during the war or over any claim now barred by the provision of any law of the United States.

BASEBALL PRACTICE

AT SCHOOL FOR DEAF

Base ball practice started in earnest at the State School for the Deaf yesterday when Capt. Frank Friday ordered out the first and second squads for an hour's hard work. While it was just a bit chilly the boys went through their stunts with a snap and vim that promises well for a good team out of the big school. There is an abundance of good material and with the right sort of handling some good players should be developed. It is a little too early to say just who will come from among the following: Frank Friday, Prettyman, Clays, Miller, Begner, Hansen, Linzie, Crummins, Witkowski, H. Friday, Otto, Connors, Mathey and other "Colts." Illini Field is in good shape and the athletes will indulge in regular work from this on.

DECIDE TO RE-ORGANIZE INVESTIGATING FORCE

TAKE MOVE TO SEE THAT EVERYONE SUBJECT TO INCOME TAX PAYS

Twenty Special Agents Have Re- ceived Suggestions That They Re- sign, Intention Being to Replace Them With Trained Accountants.

Washington, Mar. 22.—Partial re-organization of their investigating force has been decided upon by Secretary McAdoo and Internal Revenue Commissioner Osborne in planning for the 1915 income tax collecting campaign. Some twenty of the special agents appointed last year have received suggestions that they resign the intention being to replace them with trained accountants, men peculiarly fitted to handle the books of corporations subject to the tax.

No Reflection on Men.

It was explained at the treasury department tonight that no reflection rested upon the men who it was desired to displace, and that it was to be expected that many of the members of the force first assembled would not be adapted to the work or fully qualified to get the best results. A number of the agents invited to resign already have done so, but it is said there have been some objections to the department's action by members of congress who recommended the appointments. In some cases it has been urged that the agents had failed to accomplish the desired results only because there was no material from which to get results in the work given them.

To See That All Pay.

Commissioner Osborne in his annual report to congress spoke of weeding out this force and indicated that with better qualified agents greater results in actual returns might be hoped for. The move is in line with the expressed determination of officials to see that the income tax is paid by every individual and corporation subject to it.

Officials are still at sea as to how much to expect under the law for the fiscal year 1915. Collectors were not required this year as they were last to send in an estimate of the number of returns and the probable tax to be collected on them, after the first of March. Lacking such information there are few officials who care to prophesy how much the tax may bring in.

McAdoo Figured on $80,000,000.

Secretary McAdoo has figured up on $80,000,000 from the tax and some officials of the internal revenue bureau even put the total at $85,000,000. Upon an accurate estimate, which may be made late in May probably will depend the secretary's decision on whether an issue of Panama Canal bonds will be necessary to meet the prospective treasury deficit.

CONFESSES THAT JOHN KNIGHT AND LOVEY MITCHELL KILLED DAWSON

Police Secure Admission From Wife of Knight—Revenge is Given as Motive.

Peoria, Ill., March 22.—Police officials of Monmouth and Peoria tonight secured a confession, according to the police, from Annie Marie Knight, a negro woman of Monmouth, that it was her husband, John Knight, and Lovey Mitchell, who murdered William E. Dawson, his wife and daughter at Monmouth on the night of September 30th, 1911.

Mrs. Knight was brought to Peoria late today by Chief of Police Morrison of Monmouth. After several hours of questioning the woman said she was willing to make a clean breast of the affair.

A stenographer took down her story.

Mrs. Knight said, it is reported by the police, that the crime against the Dawson family of Monmouth was planned by John Knight, her husband, and Lovey Mitchell. Revenge was given as the cause. Mrs. Knight stated that they went to the Dawson home on the night of Sept. 30th, 1911 and that she remained in the back yard while the two men murdered the family. Police officials refused tonight to make any further statement.

FEDERAL LEAGUE OFFERS TO BUY THE INDIANAPOLIS FRANCHISE

CHICAGO, March 22.—The Federal League will buy the franchise of the Indianapolis club if the stockholders will withdraw their suit to have the club placed in the hands of a receiver according to President James A. Gilmore who returned tonight from Indianapolis.

"The Federal League will buy the Indianapolis club's franchise providing no receiver is appointed tomorrow," said Mr. Gilmore here tonight. "This offer was made in Indianapolis today and we feel that it will be accepted when suitable terms are agreed upon."

EXPECT DECISIVE BATTLE.

Washington, March 22.—Reports to the state department and to the Mexican Agency here today continued to indicate that Villa and Carranza forces are massing near the coast in northern Mexico for what may be the most decisive battle fought since Huerta was overthrown.

War News Summarized

The Austrian war office admits that the Galician fortress of Przemyśl, which so long had held out against the Russian besiegers, at last has been forced through a shortage of food to capitulate. It was not however without a last gallant attempt at a sortie that the garrison surrendered.

In the fall of Przemyśl, Petrograd, asserts that the Russians took nine generals, three hundred commissioner officers and 50,000 men.

The Russians now, it is said, anticipate moving toward Austria's only remaining strong fortress in Galicia—Cracow. The fall of Cracow would bring the Russians a step nearer to Germany's rich province in Silesia.

While fighting has continued at various points on both the eastern and western battle lines, no great encounters have been reported. Petrograd asserts that there has been no change in the situation from Memel, east Prussia, to the Vistula, which is at variance with the German claims that Memel had been recaptured from the Russians.

On the left bank of the Vistula and in the Carpathians, Petrograd reports that German and Austrian positions and guns have been captured and officers and men made prisoners. In the western theater Paris asserts that in the vicinity of Notre Dame de Lorette trenches taken from the Germans are being held, that counter attacks by the Germans at Les Eparges have been repulsed and that progress has been made by the allies in the region of Radonville.

The Netherlands government has asked Berlin to explain the seizure of two Dutch steamers and the confiscation of their cargoes.

A British prize court has ordered that American flour and wheat in the cargoes of three steamers detained in British ports be paid for.

FINISH GATHERING DATA FOR NOTE REGARDING SINKING OF FRYE

America to Complain to Germany That There Was No Proof Food- stuffs Were Destroyed by Belligerent Forces.

Washington, March 22.—State department officials have now gathered practically all the data sought by them preparatory to requesting Germany to make reparations for the sinking of the American ship William P. Frye and cargo by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich. No word has been received from the Berlin government as yet concerning the case, it was said and the note setting forth the views of the Washington government probably will be sent within a few days. The papers signed by the owners of the Frye before the vessel left Seattle, Washington, reached the treasury department late today and were transmitted to the state department. It is understood that they bear out published reports that the cargo was consigned to order, at Queenstown, Ireland, and do not show any subsequent sale to an English firm.

The American complaint will be that there was no proof that the foodstuffs were destroyed to the belligerent forces of Great Britain.

The general belief is that the German government will make reparations for the loss of ship and cargo and that the incident will be closed shortly.

PROMINENT NEW YORK BANKER KILLS WIFE AND THEN SUICIDES

NEW YORK, March 22.—Howard Boock, treasurer of the Astor Trust company of this city and prominent in New York society, shot and instantly killed his wife tonight as she was playing the piano for his entertainment in their home in East 47th street. The banter then shot himself.

According to the police the banker left no word explaining the murder and suicide nor could any member of the household throw light on the affair. The servants declared that the couple were on the most affectionate terms.

EXEMPTS FOREIGNERS FROM PAYING TAX.

El Paso, Tex., Mar. 22.—General Villa will not require British and other foreign merchants of Monterey to contribute to the million peso tax levied a week ago for the relief of the poor of Monterey. H. C. Miles, British vice consul of this city, returned today from Chihuahua state with assurances of exemption from General Felipe Angeles at Monterey. A formal protest had been filed.

MAY SETTLE ELECTION CONTEST THIS WEEK

FINAL ARGUMENTS TO BE MADE BE- FORE SENATE THIS EVENING

Committee Expects to Make Report on Cook County Cases Wednesday —Only Twenty-five Attend House Session—Advance Three Bills.

Springfield, Ill., March 22.—Representatives from the Englewood and Oak Park districts in Cook county probably will be seated in the upper house of the legislature this week. Pending a recount of the ballots to determine who was elected, these districts have been without representation in the senate ever since the legislature convened in January.

Recount is Completed.
The recount of ballots has been completed and the final arguments of attorneys will be made tomorrow evening before the senate elections committee which expects to make its report to the senate Wednesday.

At present the Democrats have twenty-five votes in the senate against the Republicans twenty-four. However, much of the interest in the seating of senators from the two contested districts has been eliminated as the Republicans with the aid of several Democratic votes already have succeeded in organizing the senate. Should both of the Democratic contestants be seated the Democrats will have a majority of three members in the senate. Should both of the Republicans be seated the Republicans will have a majority of one. Both of the Republican contestants are considered "dry" while the Democrats are classed as "wets."

Only Twenty-Five at Session.

Eighteen Republicans and seven Democrats constituted the house of representatives at the five o'clock session this afternoon. Several bills were introduced today and three were advanced on the calendar. The session was brought to an abrupt end when Lee O'Neill Browne objected to the advancing of any bills from second to third reading with 30 few present.

Advancement from first to second reading of the Judge Goodnow bill introduced by Gardner making it a misdemeanor for a parent to abandon an infant child was objected to by Browne and it was left on first reading. Browne indicated an intention to endeavor to have the bill recommitted tomorrow to the judicial committee for further consideration. He moved this course today but withdrew his motion in deference to Gardner who was not present. The bills making an emergency appropriation of $2,500 for the state factory inspector's department and making it larceny to embezzle the funds in which the embezzler has an interest were sent along to second reading.

JAPANESE AMBASSADOR HOLDS CONFERENCE WITH BRYAN

Both are Uncommunicative When Asked as to the Nature of Their Talk.

Washington, March 22.—Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador, called at the state department late today and conferred with Secretary Bryan for nearly an hour.

Later the ambassador was asked whether he had talked about the Japanese-Chinese situation. "I absolutely cannot discuss that situation at all," he replied. Mr. Bryan was equally as uncommunicative.

Before the conference it was stated at the Japanese embassy that late advices indicated that prospects for an early settlement of the negotiations between Japan and China were brighter.

ROADS HOPE TO RAISE MORE THAN $2,000,000 BY GRAIN RATE INCREASE

Chicago, March 22.—L. E. Wetling, statistician for the 41 western railroad systems which have asked for an increase in freight rates on certain commodities, testified before interstate commerce commissioner, W. M. Daniels today as to the amount the railroads hoped to add to their annual revenue on the proposed increase on the rates for grain and grain products. Of the $19,000,000, which the railroads estimate would be added to their annual revenue through the proposed increases $2,252,493, Mr. Wetling testified, would come from grain and grain products.

This he said would be about one third of one per cent of the total revenue.

AMMUNITION ON WAY TO NEW ORLEANS.

Chicago, Mar. 22.—William Huey of Chicago lost his first game in the world's three cushion billiard championship tournament here and now is tied with John Daly of New York for first place, each having seven victories and one defeat.

ASKS FOR EXPLANATION OF TAKING OF DUTCH STEAMERS

Dutch Government Forwards Mes- sage to Germany—Question of Protest Will Depend on Berlin's Answer.

The Hague, Netherlands, Mar. 22, via London.—(6:50 p. m.)—The Netherlands government at noon today after a meeting of the state council forwarded a telegram to Berlin asking for an explanation of the proceedings of the German submarine in taking a forcibly possession of the Dutch Steamers Batavier V., and Zaanstroom and conveying them to Zebrugge and confiscating their cargoes. The question whether a protest will be sent to Germany will, it is said, depend upon the answer of the Berlin government. It is understood in semi-official circles here that all the officers of the Dutch vessels and a sufficient number of their crews to handle the ships remain on board and the hope is expressed that the steamers will be released in their cargoes have been unloaded. It is pointed out in the same quarters that the cargoes of the Batavier V. and Zaanstroom probably are composed of conditional contraband and therefore liable to seizure in the same way as the British have taken possession of similar freight which it was suspected was consigned to Germany.

In semi-official quarters however, it is argued that the Germans have no right to capture the vessels but it is still uncertain whether a capture has taken place as the report of the hauling down of the Dutch flag and the hoisting of the German colors are indefinite. This is one of the chief questions that the Dutch telegram asks Berlin to explain.

PARIS IS WARNED OF ANOTHER IMPENDING ZEPPELIN RAID

No Hostile Aircraft Had Made Its Appearance Up to Nearly Mid- night—Weather Conditions Un- favorable.

Paris, Mar. 22.—(11:10 p. m.)—Paris received warning tonight of another impending Zeppelin raid, but up to nearly mid-night no hostile aircraft had made its appearance.

The weather conditions tonight were most unfavorable for an aerial raid in strong contrast to the weather which prevailed Sunday morning on the occasion of the last visit of the Zeppelins. It rained steadily and at times a strong south wind blew. As on Sunday morning the city was notified quickly and almost immediately the capital was in absolute darkness. Curiosity again seized the residents and all eyes were turned toward the sky. The warning of officers of possible danger of those who remained in the streets was ignored.

Groups of persons gathered in front of the restaurants and cafes in doorways, in windows and on balconies while others sought vantage points in the open places and on the roofs. But their curiosity was unrewarded.

MARSHALL MAKES HIS FIRST OFFICIAL VISIT TO EXPOSITION

Vice President is Received by the National Exposition Committee— Greets Foreign Exposition Offi- cials.

San Francisco, Cal., March 22.—Vice President Marshall, representing President Wilson, made today his first official visit to the Panama-Pacific exposition where he was received by the national exposition committee. He greeted foreign exposition officials and then made a formal call on Admiral Thomas B. Howard, commander of the Pacific fleet whose flagship, the Cruiser Colorado, is anchored off the exposition grounds. Tonight he was the guest of honor at a dinner given in the California building by the women's board of the exposition.

At a luncheon tendered the foreign commissioners today the vice-president welcomed the world to the exposition. In the course of his speech he voiced sentiments of friendship and sympathy for the war torn countries of Europe. Admiral Baron Irua, of the Japanese commission, responded.

IOWA SENATE PASSES SIX BILLS

Des Moines, Iowa, March 22.—The six remaining prohibitory law enforcement measures introduced by a "dry" caucus were passed today by the Iowa Senate. The "wet" faction made a desperate effort to defeat two of the measures but failed. It did succeed, however, in obtaining amendments making the bills less drastic.

HAL BURKE IS RELEASED.

Aurora, Ill., March 22.—Hal Burke, whom Mrs. Katherine Francke testified she had seen purchasing a pair of woolen gloves like those found near Emma Peterson who was beaten to death, was released tonight.

Chief of Police Michaels is satisfied he had nothing to do with the murder.

TORPEDO BRITISH STEAMER.

London, Mar. 22.—The British steamer Concord of 1,825 tons was torpedoed by a German submarine in the English channel today. The crew of 26 men were rescued by a patrol boat and landed at Dover. The vessel is reported to be still afloat.

SNOWSLIDE KILLS FIFTY COAL MINERS

Avalanche Sweeps Away Several Bunk Houses and Aerial Tramway

FIFTY MEN ARE INJURED

Rescuers Are at Work on Pile of Debris—Eighteen Bodies Have Been Found

SEND RELIEF BY STEAMER

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 22.—Fifty miners were killed and as many more injured early today by a snowslide which swept away several bunk houses at the Britannia Mine at Howe Sound, B. C., according to a despatch received here. Besides the bunk houses part of the aerial tramway of the mine was carried away.

The mine level is on the side of a mountain and nearly five thousand feet above the shore of the sound. The tramway destroyed extended from the mine to the beach.

Soon after reports of the avalanche were received here a steamer with physicians and nurses left for Howe Sound. Details are lacking owing, it is believed, to the fact that communication with the mine has been cut off, as telephone wires are down.

Mine Employed 1,000 Men.

The Britannia is a coal mine employing more than 1,000 men. The slide swept away a bunk house containing 15 men, a cook house containing ten men and several private houses in which were a number of women and children. Several men going off the night shift at midnight also were killed. At last reports, rescuers were working on the pile of debris.

Fifteen of the injured were being brought to Vancouver tonight by steamer. Owing to lack of communication with Howe Sound except by steamer details are not yet available.

Recover Eighteen Bodies.
According to information brought here by steamer late tonight 18 bodies had been recovered. The total loss of life still was being estimated at fifty when the vessel left Britannia beach. Twenty of the injured had been accounted for. The most seriously hurt were brought here for treatment.

It was learned that the landslide carried away the mine offices and several other buildings. The principal loss of life occurred in the bunk house which was completely buried.

BRYAN AND SPRING-RICE CONFER OVER MENACE TO SISAL SUPPLY

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Secretary Bryan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador conferred today over a new danger menacing the Yucatan sisal hemp supply from which must come the twine to bind this year's crop of wheat in the United States and Canada. Early both the secretary and the ambassador had received a committee of Yucatan citizens, who said that Carranza officials at the port of Progreso were burning stores of sisal and threatening growers and shippers with heavy taxation and penalties because of their refusal to accept a Carranza governor. It is understood that steps will be taken to prevent any interference with the shipping of the much needed product.

ENGAGEMENT TOOK PLACE IN CHILEAN WATERS

London, Mar. 22.—(11:50 p. m.)—A Valparaiso despatch to the Evening News says: "It is established that the engagement in which the German cruiser Dresden was sunk was in Chilean waters."

But there is lots in the "habit" of talking about the high cost of living. True, flour is high now but meat costs less than it did a year ago by nearly twenty-five percent. Potatoes are exceptionally cheap and the same is true of eggs. For weeks the price of grape fruit has been below all former records. Surely there is plenty to eat in this list of reasonably priced commodities.

Says Auto Tires Cost More Than Navy

The meeting of the Navy Defense League in San Francisco promises to revive the campaign for a larger American navy. The leaders in the movement are preparing resolutions which will come before the meeting. Col. Robert M. Thompson of New York, a retired cotton operator, who has been advocating most of his time to the campaign of the league, declares that this nation is spending more for auto tires than for its navy.

"The navy is utterly inadequate," declares Col. Thompson. "It should be of sufficient strength to prevent war being carried within our borders at any time. Invasion of this country would have to come from over the seas. Manifestly we need not fear invasion from any American power. It will be the policy of the Navy Defense League to demand the creation of a commission on national defense composed of experts who will carefully study and formulate a system for American defense."

Help Fight Tuberculosis.
The city council took commendable action Monday in granting the petition asking that the people be permitted to vote upon the question of levying a one mill tax for the further development of anti-tuberculosis work.

A one mill tax is so small that it will not be burdensome to any property owner and yet will result in raising about $2,500 to use in the combat with the preventable disease which each year makes terrific inroads upon the life of the people. The agitation about tuberculosis is instilling a horror of the disease but is accomplishing more by showing prevention methods and the great responsibility which rests upon those who have the taint in their blood, to so live that their own years may be prolonged and that they may not become a menace to others.

The open air school here in Jacksonville is bringing color to many childish cheeks that were pale, strength to many weak limbs and health to fragile bodies. The good work should be prosecuted further and the proposed tax will help greatly.

Labor Plans Living Cost Cut.

The Illinois State Federation of Labor has undertaken to launch a co-operative stores system with the purpose in view of reducing the high cost of living by bringing the producer and consumer into closer contact. The plan is patterned after one in England which was inaugurated twenty years ago. The business done by the English co-operative stores system in 1914 amounted to $14,000,000. The co-operative idea may have a socialistic sound to some people but it nevertheless aims at one of the most decisive causes for high living cost.

There is something the matter with the American system of merchandising so far as the necessities of life are concerned. Often the consumer pays twice as much for an article as the producer receives, the addition going simply to the one or several middlemen. If the co-operative stores plan will correct this evil it will accomplish a great good.

No Tobacco for Minors.

Miss Olmsted, public health nurse, has found a number of Jacksonville merchants who are selling tobacco to boys under 21 years of age and has notified many that this practice is forbidden by the Illinois statutes, except on written consent of parent or guardian. Miss Olmsted has conferred with Paul P. Thompson, the city attorney, and it has been decided to prosecute any who may continue to supply boys with cigarettes or other forms of tobacco. Boys in making purchases often claim that they do so for their fathers or older brothers but written consent from these is necessary, according to the Illinois law.

U. S. Export Figures.

Foreign merchandise ranging between 35 and 43 million dollars' worth annually is imported into the United States and re-exported in its original condition. In the last fiscal year exports of "foreign merchandise," according to the reports issued by the Department of Commerce through the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, aggregated 37 million dollars, about 15 million dollars worth going to Canada and the remainder chiefly to France, United Kingdom, Germany, Belgium, Mexico, Cuba and the Netherlands, in amounts ranging downward from 4 million to about one million dollars.

The exportation of foreign merchandise by the United States is much less than that of most of the leading commercial countries of Europe. For example, the United Kingdom during the last calendar year exported 465 million dollars' worth of foreign colonial merchandise, as against 42 1-2 million dollars' worth exported from the United States in that period. Great Britain's exports of foreign merchandise were thirteen times as great as those of the United States, though her exports of domestic merchandise only exceeded those of the United States in the same period by 1 per cent. In 1913 Germany exported 189 million dollars' worth of foreign merchandise and in 1912 France exported 357 million dollars' worth. These shipments in each case representing chiefly the products of the colonial possessions of those countries.

The exports of foreign merchandise from the United States do not include the entire exports of goods brought into the country, since a considerable proportion of the raw materials imported are subjected to processes of manufacture or refinement and when exported are technically denominated "domestic."

WOMEN IN THE NEWS.

Washington—Nine of the foremost embassies and legations in the National Capital are presided over by women of American birth. American women have before this day occupied places of prominence in the diplomatic corps, but so large a number of Yankee wives to foreign ambassadors and ministers has never before been grouped here.

First among these diplomatic women is Mme. Jules Jusserand, wife of the French ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, who was Miss Elsie Richards, daughter of an American banker, before her marriage. Countess von Bernstorff, wife of the German ambassador, was Miss Jeanne Luckemeyer, a New York girl of German descent. Mme. Bakmeteff, wife of the Russian ambassador, is a member of the Beale family and met her husband in Vienna when her father was ambassador to Austria and M. Bakmeteff was an attaché of the Russian legation there. Mme. Riano, wife of the Spanish ambassador, was Miss Alice Ward of Washington and a chum of Alice Roosevelt Longworth in her girlhood days. Another Washington girl was Mme. Havenith, wife of the Belgian minister, who was Miss Helen Plouffe before her marriage. The wife of W. A. P. Ekengren, the Swedish minister, was also a Washington girl, Miss Laura Wolcott Jackson.

The Brazilian ambassador, Senor Domicio de Gama, was married to an American woman, Mrs. Arthur H. Hearn of New York, the year following his appointment to Washington. The newest member of the diplomatic corps, Stephan Panaretoff, minister from Bulgaria, took an American wife long before he thought of coming to America as a diplomat. She was Miss Lydia Gile of North Andover, Mass., whom he met in Constantinople.

Perhaps the most interesting of these diplomatic unions, however, is that of the imperial representative of the Shah of Persia, Ali Kuli Khan, and his New England wife, who was Miss Florence Broad of Boston. Mme. Ali Kuli Khan recently visited Persia with her husband for the Shah's coronation and was presented to the potentate, an honor accorded very few women and a departure from Oriental tradition, which was intended as a special compliment to a "woman from America," land of feminism triumphant.

Boston—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho and Mrs. Antoinette Funk of the Chicago bar, author of the Storage Amendment to be placed before Congress providing for a national suffrage referendum, will speak at the same meeting here on Thursday, in behalf of votes for women.

Cincinnati—Mrs. D. T. Vail of this city is the proud possessor of a mahogany desk which belonged to Robert Browning, in which are preserved the bottles, pens, keys, etc., used by the great English poet in London.

New York—Mrs. Claude Grahame-White, wife of the famous English aviator, and formerly Miss Dorothy Fay, of this city, will sail for England on the Lusitania this week after a visit to her parents. While her husband has been directing the air raids on German strongholds on land and sea, Mrs. Grahame-White has been spending her time here assisting in relief work for war sufferers. She is enthusiastic over the splendid work done by American women for war-torn Europe.

Atlanta, Ga.—Miss Genevieve Lehne, a stenographer, estimates at $50,000, the wrong done her by a kiss "forcibly and against her will" upon her left hand. Miss Lehne is now suing her employer, J. D. Patterson, superintendent of the Atlanta Joint Terminal, for that amount as balance for the above described injury to her dignity.

Philadelphia—Since the beginning of the movement of the allied fleet upon Constantinople, much alarm has been felt in this city regarding the safety of two well-known Philadelphia young women, now residents of the Turkish capital. They are Miss Eleanor R. Burns, daughter of Rev. Charles E. Burns, and Miss Ellen E. Ellis, a graduate of Bryn Mawr, both teachers in the American College for Girls in Constantinople.

SIGMA PI WINS ANNUAL JOINT DEBATE

Phi Alpha Defeated in Forensic Contest.

Exemption of Labor Unions From Sherman Anti-trust Law Question Discussed—Judges Chosen From City.

A good sized and enthusiastic audience gathered at Jones Memorial building on the campus of Illinois college last evening to enjoy the annual joint debate between the Phi Alpha and Sigma Pi societies which was won by Sigma Pi. The judges were Dr. A. L. Adams, Prof. Charles A. R. Stone and John J. Reeve. An hour was lost in preliminary skirmishing as at the last moment there was a disagreement over the reading of the question and finally it was agreed to have it read: "Resolved, That labor unions should be exempt from the Sherman anti-trust law, constitutionality conceded."

The question settled the debaters filed in and President Rammekamp took the chair and requested Rev. Howard French to offer prayer.

The debate was then in order and the debaters were announced, for the affirmative, representatives of the Phi Alpha society, Ray Bracewell, Robert Nesmith and Thomas Mangner; for the negative, the Sigma Pi society, Clay Apple, Earl Harmon and Clifford Dixon.

The debaters worked well and each side spoke with determination and all showed evidence of careful and thorough study. The affirmative disclaimed all desire to shield any one or any set of men from a strict obedience to the law and the negative claimed all they wanted was just treatment and impartial justice.

The debaters spoke with earnestness and vigor and the contest was a great testimonial to all who took part in it. The judges had on easy task to perform for both sides did admirably and for a time the decision seemed to hang in the balance. President Rammekamp announced the decision stood two to one in favor of the negative.

There was great rejoicing among the winners and their friends who crowded around them to tender congratulations. Enthusiasm prevailed and the winners departed in high glee. This is the first time in the history of the joint debate that one society has won four consecutive debates.

Out of "Caste."

Many people, unless actually familiar with the ways and customs of the native of India, have little idea as to how superstitious many of these people are, especially with regard to their "caste" system.

In this district not very long ago a coolie while passing through the jungle was suddenly attacked and most severely mangled by a bear. His comrades, however, although they knew that a few miles distant there was a well equipped hospital, conveyed him to a village close by, where he was kept without medical assistance of any kind and in a blazing sun for three days.

When eventually brought into the hospital the man's plight may be better imagined than described. The surgeon and his assistants managed to keep him alive, but his face is so disfigured that he is known in the district as the "reache wallah" (bear man). The most extraordinary thing about this case is that the unfortunate person was during the time he lay in hospital considered by the fraternity to be unclean, with the result that his own wife was, through attending to his requirements, thrown out of "caste."—India Gazette.

Mexican "Puchero."

When things are at their best in Mexico first rate feeding is to be had. When such an expert as George Augustus Sala describes anything as "a grand dish" there can be no doubt about it, and that is how he speaks of the "puchero"—the literal meaning of which is "pickin'." There is beef in it—boiled beef—the French bouilli, in fact. There is bacon. There are garbanzo broad beans and charming little black puddings and cabbage and delicate morsels of fried banana. It is very wholesome and very filling, and there is no use in your complaining that an odor of garlic pervades it, because the room and the tablecloth and your next neighbor are all equally redolent of the omnipresent ajo. There is a proverb which I may translate thus:

He who lets puchero pass
Is either in love, or asleep, or an ass.
—London Chronicle.

He Beat the Postoffice.

The French postoffice once found itself beset by a man who refused to pay an excess fee. He was condemned to pay the amount in dispute and a heavy fine besides. He declared that the authorities would not extract a centime from him and set about having his revenge. He bought a plot of ground in the French Alps, twenty-seven kilometers from the postoffice, and there built a hut. In this he installed an old shepherd, in whose name he subscribed to the Petit Journal, to deliver which it was necessary to engage a special postman, there being no other habitation within a wide circuit. After a time the authorities prevailed on Nardin to withdraw his shepherd, whereupon they withdrew their claim and paid him a small indemnity.—St. Joseph News Press.

A Fairy Tale That Came True

The most wonderful thing about fairy tales is that they come true. When May West, a poor governess, walking in the park, found the invitation to Mrs. Van Stuyvesant's masquerade ball, she had no idea that this was the magic wand which would transform Cinderella into a princess. But so it happened—she went to the ball, a prince fell in love with her, and they were having a glorious time when the hostess said: "A diamond brooch is missing. Will everybody please unmask?" Cinderella managed to escape, but she left a slipper behind. Of course the prince found it and looked for her high and low. How he discovered her at last is a story in itself—one of the most enchanting stories ever told in motion pictures.

HORSE FEEDERS

We find after several tests on feeding horses, softened grain with all its strength retained in it, is the best feed for a horse that can be fed. It keeps them in a healthier condition, and they will drive better, do more work, look better, beside we save one-third the feed. I will furnish one plant in each town, one on 30 days free trial to prove my claims, and I will furnish one of my plants in each county, on 30 days free trial to prove it is the best cattle feed, and the slop of the mush fed cattle the best hog feed. A little soda is good for all classes of stock; helps them digest their feed. I ask all cattle feeders and horse feeders to try one.

2 gallons of corn with the cob in it cooked will make all any steer can eat, and gain 3.1-2 to 4 pounds per day, if clover is fed with it in dry lots.

1 gallon with the cob in it makes a day's feed for a horse.
1 gallon corn with ground clover in it feeds a hog a day.

Keeps the Heat in the Oven and Out of the Kitchen

"Fireless" and Range Combined—The secret is in the oven, which seals in the heat just like a fireless cook stove. A turn of the damper does it—changing your range into the best and easiest used "fireless" ever invented. This "fireless" oven is the big, new feature of the NEW PERFECTION, the finest range you can put in your kitchen. Has a cabinet top with a spacious warming shelf and plenty of room behind the burners for keeping food hot.

3 Kinds of Cooking

This insulated oven cooks three ways. You can adjust the flame for the quickest kind of quick baking, or the slow, steady kind you need for baking bread and roasting meats. Set the oven and turn out the flame and it keeps an even, steady heat for six or seven hours—this is your fireless. The insulation keeps the heat in the oven and out of the kitchen—a blessing in hot weather and a great fuel saver all the year 'round.

Burns Economical, Clean Oil—This latest NEW PERFECTION burns oil. Your fire is ready by striking a match—no dirt, smoke or odor—no more lugging in coal or wood and carrying out ashes. All you need are matches. Cheap as well as clean and handy. Safe, too—none of the dangers of gasoline. For best results use Perfection Oil.

Price Low—PERFECTION with the Insulated Oven is wonderfully reasonable. It costs little more than a good fireless cooker, less than the average coal range, while giving you the service of both. REV. C. A. CARRIEL WRITES INTERESTING LETTER FROM BRAZIL

Declares His Sentiments are With the Allies and Gives Reasons—Views Not in Line with Those of Mrs. Carriel.

Rev. Arthur Carriel has recently written the following letter from Brazil to his mother, Mrs. Mary T. Carriel. The writer expresses some decided views on the war gained from a somewhat intimate knowledge of conditions. Mr. Carriel's position is somewhat opposed to that taken by Mrs. Carriel, but she frankly gives these views to friends as she would if they accorded with her own.

Rau Batel 118, Curitiba, Parana, Brazil
Feb. 9, 1915.

Dear Mother:

Your good letters of Dec. 15 and Jan. 4th, received, and enjoyed so much. Please forgive me for not writing sooner. Was glad to see your article on Germany. I admire your independence of judgment, but cannot help but feel that your dislike for England has led you to put a halo around the Kaiser's helmet. There is no doubt but that Germany has gone ahead faster in these last years than England; but the more I see of the Germans, and I see a good deal, the more I am for the allies. Germany leading the world's whither? The materialism of the U. S. is in its infancy compared with that of Germany; and a good part of her boasted philosophy is the pessimism of atheists who have no message for this day and age. "Deutschland über alles" is their slogan. And if there is anything altruistic, anything which looks to the betterment of any one except number one, you would think it would manifest itself among the large German colony of Brazil, where Germans are Germans, and have not been absorbed by the American spirit. I don't find it. You want to do business with a German to get acquainted with him. In your article, you speak of Germany's peace policy since 1870; all the others have fought, but not she. I don't see anything noble about a man who refuses to enter any fight, but who constantly prepares for war, consistently discourages any negotiations for universal peace, and who strikes the first instant he sees his enemy is at a disadvantage. Our hired girl is a German who was brought to Brazil without her parents' consent by a spy of the German Government. We hear something of the Germans here. But enough, however, what I wrote in the Courier is also true.

Thank you so much for the check you sent for Christmas. Unfortunately we were just moving at that time, and though I thought I put it in my purse it disappeared and has not been found.

I think I have not written you since Jan. 2nd, when I was at a hotel in Santos. Since then we have been busy finding a house, then moving into it; at the same time we have had charge of the Curitiba church. We are nicely settled now, and have the best house and neighbors. First let me tell you how well you hit it, when you spoke of disappointments being blessings. It has already been so. We are both so glad to be among the friends of Curitiba.

Our house is on the edge of town, near the Leningtons, and near many others we know. Our next door neighbor on one side is a school, and on the other side D. Maira Augusta, who owns the house. She is a widow and earns her living teaching in the American school. The house was built by her husband and was their home. Her mother lives with her, and two girls (about ten and twelve years old) and a boy eight. They are so charming and so friendly. There are English friends near who have money, but we enjoy more this struggling family, who give us an insight into the life and language of rare Brazilians, characters you meet now and then.

We were over next door last night. They were so glad to see us. We took our music, and that takes a Brazilian to the seventh heaven. It is so good to hear them, especially since I shall travel a good deal when I start into my own work. At present I am looking after Mr. Lenington's work in the city while he is away.

I have enjoyed so much this work in Curitiba. I take to preaching easier than to teaching. We had so many friends in the church, that it was like coming back, not going away (from S. Paulo). Last Saturday I was going to use a Sunday sermon I had already used; but I wanted to improve my Portuguese, so I wrote out one of them that day. It was a good day's work, and brought it its own reward the next day. So you see I am having an opportunity still to study the language; and I think we shall learn much more Portuguese here in the South than in S. Paulo. Yesterday I went visiting on "Pangare." "Pangare" is a good horse, full of life and a beauty; he was given to me by a church member in the interior. It was the best horse he had; but he always gives his best to the cause. The people were so glad to see me in their homes. In these visits I come right up to the firing line. Some are the only believers of their families, and the others have the prejudice against Protestantism which is found wherever Rome goes, and wherever a materialistic disbeliever follows her.

Mr. Lenington goes to the United States in July, and part of my work will be the finding of a good pastor (Brazilian) for this church, and turn it over to the National church of Brazil. I am hoping we may find the man soon. Mr. Lenington is now at the general assembly and will put the question before the church. You see they are contented to have a missionary act as pastor and raise money in the church for other churches. But we are going to insist that they now take over a church that has been ready for them for a long while.

I am looking forward to my traveling work. There will be a few new points where the work will be begun; but most everywhere the work will be to carry on to a conclusion work which was begun years ago. This will be the completing of mission work, the organizing of churches, the arranging of pastors, etc. All through this south country I know different men. The Brazilians are so appreciative and hospitable that it is a great pleasure to travel among them. I shall never be away from home a great while, for when Mr. Lenington goes home, I shall be treasurer of the mission, and shall come home to post my books. What varied activities and broad experience a missionary has. It has seemed to me as Bess used to say, "The stars in their courses fought against Sisera." I was never interested in English while in college and seminary, and have had to teach it in Mackenzie; never cared for the Old Testament as much as the New, and I have taught that also; never knew anything about keeping books when I came to the mission field, and now I shall have charge of all funds of the mission. Mr. Lenington has been preparing me for the work and I am going to enjoy it. There are two exchanges; our salaries are American gold, but there are no American banks here. So they buy letters of credit on London, 100 pounds each, and these are exchanged into mil reis. Mr. Lenington sells these London notes and, often there is great variation, owing to exchange. The financial situation at present, which has been hard on the Brazilian, has been good for the missionary; as the mil reis has fallen the dollars have risen in value. For instance we used to get about 375$00 a month salary, but last month we got 450$ and one month 525$. (The dollar sign after the figures signifies the amount is in mil reis, which is equal to 33-1/3 cents in our money.) So you see it is an ill wind that brings in a ship, somewhere. Some things are higher, but not enough to equal the increase. So you see a treasurer has his hands full. Then there is lots of bookkeeping; the missionaries often buy in Brazil and in New York through the treasurer; and the hard headed business men in New York on the board have an elaborate system of classified reports, etc.

Jonathan is doing well. He is just learning to stand up and jump up and down holding on to the sofa or bed. He is a lively youngster. We shall have some photos soon for you.

So you see we have the most comfortable home we have had yet, and are thoroughly contented to be in Curitiba, where the climate is even better than S. Paulo.

I must get ready to go to our Wednesday night service. Afterwards we all go to the American school for tea and music. Lots of love to all. Tell Wm. Henry I got his message; and tell him that if he were here I'd take him a ride on a horse that can "run to beat the band."

Your loving son,
C. A. Carriel.

TELLS OF COLLECTING SLUSH FUND FOR ELECTION PURPOSES

Witness in Terre Haute Election Fraud Case Reads List of Saloon and Gambling House Owners and Amounts of Money Roberts Told Him to Collect.

Indianapolis, March 22.—John F. Nugent, assistant chief of police under Mayor Donn M. Roberts, told today at the trial of the Terre Haute election case how he had collected a slush fund, totalling almost $6,000 from saloonkeepers and gambling room proprietors for registration and election purposes last fall. He read a list of saloon and gambling house owners and amounts of money which he said Mayor Roberts had told him to collect. Nugent has pleaded guilty. He said he refused to take checks as he "did not want any evidence like that left around."

Judge Eli H. Redman, who with Roberts, is among the 28 defendants on trial, also did some collecting for his own campaign for judge from the same class of people, according to Nugent, and Roberts became angry.

Mrs. A. J. Schleisser of New Orleans and two children. Paul and Luther, are visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Brune, of East North street.

ILLUSTRATED SERMONS AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

"Through the Bible" Series of Sunday Evening Talks By Use of Diagram By Pastor Stephens.

A unique feature of the services at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, was the use of the colored diagram "Through the Bible," designed by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Percy W. Stephens, a number of years ago, and used by him on both sides of the Atlantic. There was a large audience present and an intense interest was manifested.

In part Rev. Mr. Stephens said: To many Bible study is uninteresting and of little value. Our apprehension of the message of the Bible and appreciation of that message, depends entirely upon our view point. St. Augustine said "Distinguish the ages and the scriptures harmonize."

The scriptures speak of ages past, a present age and of future ages. There seem to be seven distinct ages or dispensations of God's dealings with the human race since the fall of man. Each age ends with a universal judgment and is followed by a change in God's dealing with the human race and a promise of better things for and from man.

The first age extends from the Fall of man to the Flood and is characterized by man being tried according to the light of his conscience.

The second age extends from the Ark to the Call of Abraham and is characterized by a simple form of government, and the judgment of Bible with the dispersions of the nations.

The third age extends from the Call of Abraham to the Coming of Christ, and is characterized by the Mosaic law given to the children of Israel.

The fourth and present age is characterized by the gathering out of the world the Church of Christ, and has for its terminal points the cross of Christ and the Coming of Christ.

The fifth age will be a dark period of tribulation. It will be characterized by the reign of anti-Christ. As indicated above it begins with the coming of Christ for his Church and will close with the coming of Christ with his church.

The sixth age will be the period of Millennial glory. Christ will visibly reign and the age will close with the judgment of the great white throne.

The seventh age will be the universal reign of Christ when there will be the new heaven and the new earth with its eternal blessings.

In further reference to the diagram Pastor Stephens pointed out the wonderful harmony which exists between God's work on the seven days of creation and the characteristic features of the respective ages. To illustrate this, on day 6th Adam and his bride were given dominion over the earth, and during the sixth age Christ, the last Adam and his bride will reign over the earth.

The topic for Sunday morning next will be "The Mysteries and Messages of Creation" and will refer not only to the early condition of the earth before the creation of man but also to the condition and career of Satan before he became Satan.

RECIPES OF OUR PIONEER MOTHERS

For the home treatment of disease were wonderfully dependable. True, they knew nothing of drugs, but owed their success to the roots, herbs and barks of the field. It is interesting to note that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful remedy for female ills we have, was originally prepared for home use from one of these recipes. Its fame has now spread from shore to shore, and thousands of American women now well and strong claim they owe their health and happiness to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Advertisement.

CONTEST FOR MILLIONS BEGUN AT ST. LOUIS

Bride Must Prove She is Daughter of Late James Campbell, Railway Promoter.

St. Louis, Mo., March 22.—The attempt of Mrs. Lois Ann Campbell Burkhams, bride of Elzey G. Burkhams of St. Louis, to prove that she is the daughter of the late James Campbell, the multi-millionaire railway promoter of New York and St. Louis, will be the principal evidence introduced in the will contest which today goes before a jury here, to establish who shall receive the $16,900,000 fortune left by the railroad magnate.

Many depositions have been taken in New York, and many witnesses are expected to be called by Mrs. Burkhams' lawyers, and many others by the lawyers for the seven nephews and nieces of the late Mr. Campbell.

The Campbell will was written in New York, where Mr. Campbell maintained offices, and on June 12th last, the capitalist died at his summer home at Greenwich, Conn. Mrs. Lois Ann Campbell Burkhams was left a large share of his fortune.

One of the depositions taken at New York is that of Mrs. Annie Mahoney, an aged third cousin of the young heiress, who testified to having seen the Campbell daughter two hours after she was born on March 17, 1897, at the Grand Union Hotel in New York, where Mrs. Campbell had been taken after having been stricken suddenly ill on the street. Mrs. Mahoney said that Mrs. Campbell and the child were taken on the following day, from the Grand Union to the Grand Hotel on Broadway. Employees of the Grand Hotel who were on duty at that time denied a subsequent hearing that they remembered any such occurrence. The room clerk of the Grand Union testified he had never known a baby to be born in the hotel.

Another star witness for the young heiress is Mrs. Joan J. Shaw of Westfield, N. J., who testified at the New York hearing that she visited the Grand Hotel where the Campbells had a suite, saw Mrs. Campbell in bed and saw the infant. There also she met Campbell, who opened wine in honor of the event. According to Mrs. Shaw Mrs. Campbell was a widow, working as a stenographer, when she met and married the millionaire.

The case will be called before Circuit Judge Leo M. Rassieur and a jury today. There are two separate issues involved—the parenage of Mrs. Burkhams and the validity of the will. It is said that if the jury concludes Mrs. Burkhams is Campbell's daughter, the will contest practically will be out of court, since the Missouri law provides that if a will is not valid the property involved goes to the widow and child. The nieces and nephews contesting the Campbell will would under such a decision have no basis of litigation.

Ray Harmon of Litchfield was a visitor in Jacksonville yesterday.

TRY SIX MEN FOR KENTUCKY SHOOTING

Irvine, Ky., March 22.—Six men will be tried today at the regular term of Estill county court for the killing of Houston Underwood in February. Thomas O. Wallace and Frank Caney, admitted on the witness stand that they fired at Underwood on the night he was killed, but claimed that Underwood had first fired at them. They exonerated James M. Hynes, one of the six men on trial. It is alleged that Underwood was called to the door of his home and his body riddled with bullets by a band of masked men, and that the bullets were meant for another man who had been Underwood's guest that evening.

CLEAN UP

Now let us give the war a rest, the rout, the siege, the sally, and gayly shed our coat and vest, and go and clean the alley! Let's gather up the dogs and cats which have this life departed, and let tin cans and bricks and hats off to the dump be carted. In Winter you may voice your views, which you believe important, and base long sermons on the news, but in the Spring you'd orn't. Then every abashed man should whoop the "Clean Up" slogan, and chase the old tomato can, the castoff hat and brogan. So let us clear our bulging brows of trifling thoughts and narrow, and gather up the old dead cows, and work the rake and harrow. The rubbish left by careless men, and lazy human cheeses, will bring a host of germs again, and they'll bring punk diseases. And forty billion flies will come, as many microbes bearing, and round our weary heads they'll hum, and keep us busy swearing. Clean up! Clean up! On every block let the workers rally! No man should stand around and talk until he's cleaned his ally!

FRANK MANN'S SOIL BOOK

"A Fertile Soil Is The Basis of Profitable Farming"

(Authority for the publication of this and succeeding chapters of Frank Mann's book secured from Prairie Farmer Publishing Company.)

If we examine in a well pulverized corn field when corn is knee high and upwards, multitudes of small roots will be found feeding within an inch or so of the surface, and in a moist soil possibly right at the surface, at least when they have been permitted to develop there without interruption. Any destruction of these shallow roots will prevent the corn from making its largest possible growth, as these roots are within the zone of the greatest amount of available plant food.

To destroy the weeds and form a well pulverized dust mulch by loosening but an inch or less of the surface requires a good tool—one made for the purpose—and its proper management. The knives should be so adjusted as to have always a level plane below the mulch; not permitting any knife point or heel to run below the plane of cultivation. The knives are good weed destroyers, as they cut them between "wind and water," and tend to pulverize the dirt before it rolls off the heel to cover the weeds in the row of corn.

Any method of cultivation should observe certain principles: The roots of corn should not be destroyed by cultivation; extension of the root system should not be prevented; too much surface soil should not be used in making the dust mulch, and the weeds must be destroyed.

The value of a deep mulch for conserving moisture has been over-estimated. The drying out and cracking of the ground in a corn field is due mostly to the use of the moisture by the crop and not from evaporation. In fact, when we consider the thorough permeation of the soil by the root system, it seems impossible that much moisture from below could evade the root system and reach the surface to be lost by evaporation. The time to conserve moisture with dust mulch is before the planting season and during the early stages of growth.

Corn. After provision has been made for feeding a good crop, then the details of the art of agriculture noted skillfully and intelligently applied. One of the most essential things is a proper stand of corn. What constitutes a good stand of corn? It depends. Corn should be planted with reference to the habits it has formed. If corn has the habit of small stalks and a large number of small ears, it should be planted with reference to that habit. If it has to be planted late it will stand thicker planting. If it is some variety of sweet corn that has the habit of heavy stooling, there may be a different standard for a stand. If it is highly bred field corn, the amount required for a stand should be adjusted to those habits which have been more or less fixed by the breeder.

Breeding for Productiveness.

By selection certain habits can be developed in corn, which can be used to advantage in increasing yields. There are now many corn breeders who are growing corn with systematic reference to fixing certain characteristics or habits. Some are using the ear-row method, where a large number of ears are planted, each ear being given a row, and a few rows selected each year that meet more nearly the conditions required by the standard establishment. Where this selection is based on a certain type of ear, that type of ear is likely to be approximated, and other characteristics liable to be lost. When the basis of selection is only that of productiveness, uniformity of type is lost, but productiveness is increased. That there has been an increase in general yields from selection for productiveness, there is no doubt. The difference in field yields when one part was planted with the mixed seed from high yielding rows, and another part with seed from the low yielding rows, has usually varied from one to five bushels per acre, in favor of the high yielding seed. What total increase may be accomplished from breeding for productiveness is impossible to estimate, as there is no satisfactory basis for long comparisons.

The unevenness in growth between plants in a corn field, up to several inches in height has caused much inquiry. Some of this unevenness may be attributed to constitutional weakness, depth of planting, insect ravages, and lack of nutrition, but it is more prevalent in years of poor seed corn, and much of it is due to a lack of support to the plant from the seed. An examination of the corn when from 6 inches to a foot high, will show that the strongest plants have absorbed the entire kernel and nothing remains of it except the hull, while from the weakest plants may be recovered a large part of the kernel which was planted, and from which only a small part of the starch has been absorbed, leaving much of the horny material and heart without much change except as softened. Of course, some unevenness in growth may be expected to occur because of different amounts of food material being stored in different kernels, but such will be only slight as compared to the growth from kernels from corn that has been seriously injured for seed purposes.

The importance of the good effect of the kernel in giving the young plant a vigorous start is best realized when certain facts are considered: plants grow in direct proportion to their leaf surface, and a corn plant that is 6 inches high will double itself and become 12 inches high in about the same time that a plant 3 inches high will double itself and become 6 inches high; or one that is 12 inches will double itself and become 2 feet, and about the same ratio, will hold till near the close of the period of enlarging growth, with certain limitation, so that the advantage in growth throughout the season is with the plant that is given the best start.

Another fact which bears on the proposition is that the time at which the enlarging growth ceases and ear formation commences is not dependent on the size attained by the plants, nor on the period of time that has elapsed since planting, nor entirely on the heat units received by the plant; but it seems to depend more largely upon seasonal changes, so that when the season comes for ear formation the enlarging growth has ceased, and with but little regard to the size or age the plants may be. As the growth in size ceases about the time the ears begin to form, the size of the corn plants is limited to such growth as may be secured previous to the "shooting" season, and hence a vigorous growth at the start may mean much in securing yield, as other things being equal, the size of the ear is largely dependent on the growth of the stalk.

As is well known, when the season arrives for corn to "shoot" or cast to head, this change in growth takes place with only comparatively slight variations in time, as to the size of the plants, or the time of planting.

This means that to secure a good stand of even growth in a corn field the utmost care must be observed regarding seed corn. What does this mean, and what are some of the requirements? Corn for seed should be fully matured. Maturity is but the completion of storage of food in the kernel. Maturity is due to both seasonal changes and abundant nutrition, but the latter only is under absolute human control, and it is only on soil that can supply perfect nutrition that the most mature corn can be grown. It would be highly profitable for a farmer to adopt systematic soil treatment on a small area for a seed corn patch if he is unable to adopt it for the whole farm. The ears should be allowed to remain on the stalks as long as possible, removing them only in time to avoid excessive weather, as the ear may receive more or less material from the stalk for translocation may continue from the stalk to the ear after the stalk seems well ripened.

Seed corn should be artificially dried. If corn should reach a condition of maximum maturity it is not so important that it be dried as it will not contain any great excess of moisture, but such a condition of maturity is not generally reached with the large soft varieties. It is the expansion of moisture in the corn by freezing and the development of fungi in moist warm corn, that causes most of the injury to seed corn, and this excess of moisture should be removed by artificial circulation of dry air as rapidly as possible without using excessive heat.

If we apply the hibernating theory to seed corn, the endurance of cold weather during the winter, even though the corn may be dry, tends towards its vital exhaustion and injury; and it is kept in the best when it is placed where it does not have to endure extreme temperatures. Experience shows that the best seed corn is the corn that matured on the stalk, that was dried thoroughly and kept free from extreme weather conditions.

Better stands of corn are now secured than was though possible a few years ago. By attention to details in keeping and preparing the seed corn, and with good planters handled by careful men, on well prepared levelled ground, the stand of corn for a few years on Bois d'Arc farm has been as near perfect as it seems possible to secure. A count of 5,000 hills in 1912 made after the corn was considered to be all up that would come up, showed the following:

3.5 per cent 2 kernels per hill.
10 per cent 1 kernel per hill.
1 per cent 2 kernels per hill.
5 per cent 0 kernels per hill.

If we assume that two-thirds as much corn will be grown if all hills contained 1 kernel per hill as would be grown with two kernels per hill; and assuming that all 3's would give three-fourths as much corn as all 2's and making due allowance on this basis, and making deduction for missing hills, it figures out a stand of 96 per cent perfect. The stand secured in 1911 was essentially the same, and on the same acreage—160 acres.

Experiments and experience indicate that there is considerable compensation for an occasional missing hill or for a single stalk in a hill, by an increased development of the surrounding stalks, but when some of the hills contain an excessive number of stalks—as three or upwards—the effect seems to be to reduce the grain production in such hills, and also on the surrounding hills. This will depend largely on the variety of corn, and would not hold true on some of the small varieties.

If we assume the following as an average count of hills, 1, 0, 4, 1, 3, 5, 9, 4, 1, 1 it makes an average of two kernels per hill but it would be hardly reasonable to expect much more than half a crop when the stand was such an extreme case of uneven distribution.

While good germinating strength of seed and an abundance of food for the plant is much more essential than having a good stand, it is of considerable importance that there be about the proper number of plants and that they be evenly distributed.

Testing and Grading.

If but two kernels per hill are to be planted it must be with a strong assurance that they will grow. To test every ear for germination is a good plan, but do not plant every ear because it has germinated. Shell every ear by itself; give it close examination, and unless it shows that bright lustre of high life, or if it shows a poorly developed heart, throw it out. Do not plant any ear that shows space at the cob.

Give the corn planter a chance—grade the corn. If there is much variation in size of kernels, grade the ear before shelling, and look over the ears before shelling, and throw out the bad kernels with a knife. Take off the tip kernels down to the normal grains. It is best to remove the butt kernels, also, but it is not so material, as the grader will take out the worst. Grade with any good grader, feeding it slowly enough to do good work. It will not spoil the corn if it is graded more than once. Fit the plates of the planter to the corn, and give a test. Do not depend on a few drops in a drop test. Try a thousand drops, and do not stop until you approximate 90 per cent perfect in a long drop test. When you commence planting, again give the planter a chance. Drive steady, take a gait that the team can keep. Lengthen the tugs—it will help some to overcome the "horse motion" which gives an uneven depth in the hills. Do not be in a hurry take time to do it right. If the ground was well plowed and disked properly afterwards, the ground will be comparatively level, and every hill may be planted at proper depth. If it has been ridged when disking, or laid off in squares by disking both ways, or holes left in plowing some hills may be planted so deep they will not grow, and other hills may be so shallow the corn can not germinate.

SEEK TO SET ASIDE DEED TO HOUSE AND LOT

Property in Murrayville is Cause of Controversy—Daughters of David Ribelin Protest Transfer Made by Father.

In the circuit court Elizabeth E. Taylor and Margaret E. Lewis, by their attorneys, Kinoy, Wilson & Brookhouse, have filed a bill in chancery directed against Julius M. Ribelin et al. It is set forth that the complainants are heirs of David R. Ribelin, deceased, and that some time prior to his death, about the 8th of August last, he deeded lot 68 in Masters' 2nd addition to Murrayville to Julius M. Ribelin. It is set forth by the complainants that there was no proper consideration given for the transfer of the house and lot and that by such transfer they were defrauded of the interest they properly had in the house and lot through inheritance. They ask, therefore, that the deed be set aside and the estate administered on. It is maintained that Mrs. Taylor came from her home at Milo, Mo., and spent six months in the care of the deceased, and that Mrs. Lewis spent three months in such care. If the estate is administered upon according to law each will have a one-fifth interest, as will Julius M. Ribelin, the defendant. Other defendants who are made parties to the bill are Frank Ribelin, Clemence Jefferson, May Jefferson, Charles Jefferson, Bessie Jefferson, Charles Jefferson, Frank Jefferson and W. H. Handshaw, guardian of Frank Ribelin.

better and he started to return to Winchester when he became ill and was carried to the home of Thomas Tindale where he soon passed away.
He was born February 17, 1832
and had practically spent his entire

COSTLY RUNAWAY.

Yesterday afternoon as Logan
Black was weighing a load of corn
on the scales at the Gates coal office his team became frightened and gave a start. One was a colt and the other a valuable mare for which
Mr. Black gave $230 last spring.
Unfortunately the snap holding the line to the bridle bit of the colt broke and as Mr. Black pulled her caused the team to run three times
around the building when they started east and coming in contact with an iron trolley pole near the Jacksonville Transfer Co.'s building the horses fell and the mare broke her neck.

CHARGED WITH FAKE RACE SWINDLE

Minneapolis, Minn., March 22.—
Dan La Bar, known to the sporting fraternity of the middle west and northwest, must face in court the charge that he was a principal in the swindling of James L. Green of Algona, Iowa, by means of a fake racing exchange in this city. La Bar was indicted in connection with the "wire tapping" swindles of 1913, in which many are said to have been "stung." Indicted at the same time was Edward Dixon,
another sport about town, who made his getaway while out under $5,000 bail. La Bar is the man, who on May 28, 1914, took his $5,000 as "good faith" money in a bet on a horse race that was never run, says
Edward W. Coyle of Mason City, Ia., who identified the man now going to trial. La Bar is charged with swindling James L. Green out of $5,000 on a fake horse race and also of stealing a $5,000 draft from Green.

FILLED ASBURY PULPIT.
Wilbur E. Keenan of Alexander filled the pulpit of Asbury M. E.
church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He took the place of the Rev. W. W. Theobald who that afternoon gave a sermon at the Jacksonville state hospital.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been so successful in the treatment of indigestion, that thousands of former sufferers owe their good health of today to its wonder-

use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you will have no more indigestion.

It is the world's proved blood purifier. Start to take it today and before another day has passed, the impurities of the blood will begin to leave your body through the eliminating organs, and in a few days you will know by your steadier nerves,
firmer step, keener mind, brighter
eyes and clearer skin that the bad
blood is passing out, and new, rich pure blood is filling your veins and

THE TRENTON IDEA HAS MEANT BUSINESS

SIMPLE PLAN OF CO-OPERA-TION BRINGS PROSPERITY OF MISSOURI CITY.

How the Work of Increasing the Trade Area Was Inaugurated and Developed Is Told by George Massey—Better Roads and More Trade.

In these days much is written and more said of experiments in city government and in the matter of increasing the trade influence of cities through commercial clubs.
Down in Trenton, Mo., the commercial club by applying very simple principles of co-operating with the farmers in the surrounding country.
As a result there is more trade for Trenton merchants, many roads have been put in through the joint effort of merchants and farmers and the feeling between them has constantly grown in cordiality.

George Massey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Massey of this city and who
for some time has been promi-nently connected with the Implement Trade Journal in Kansas City
some time since prepared the following interesting study of the Trenton idea.

"What is the difference between the man who walks six blocks to buy a bill of goods and the man who drives six miles to buy a bill of goods? Such, in interrogative form is a fair statement of the 'Trenton Idea.'

"This time last year Trenton, Mo., was a town of something like six thousand people. Now it is a city of thirty thousand. Has Trenton actually grown so great in so short time? No, not honest-goodness speaking. Within its corporate limits, if the dry fact must be known, it has had only a normal increase of population, but that 'Trenton Idea' again—the corporate limits are not the real limits of any town!

"Before a problem can be solved
it must be acknowledged. Trenton had long had a problem, but like
so many other towns of its type,
it wasn't aware. When Trenton did begin to be conscious that something was the matter, then Trenton began to be born again, both commercially and civically.

"For a number of years prior to this recent 'renaissance' Trenton
had had an organization of business men. This body did not appear to take itself seriously. Hence, it was not to be expected that anyone outside should so consider it. Last winter, however, certain Trentoni-ans of the keener sort came to realize that their commercial club was all but dead. Unwilling to see it die without attendance of a competent physician, they sent to Kansas City for a specialist.

"M. V. Watson, then chairman of the ways and means committee of the Commercial club of Kansas City was the doctor. He accepted an invitation to address a meeting of merchants in Trenton, there and then to suggest what might be done toward bringing their organization back to life. Truly, it was something of a prescription to fill, but 'Dr.'
Watson filled it.

The Birth of a Big Idea.

"When the Kansas Cityan reached Trenton he was met at the train
by a reception committee. 'How large is your town?' he asked, after the first burst of greeting.

"Ten thousand," chirped an optimist.

"Easy Jim, easy," reproved a more conscientious citizen. 'The really-and-truly, cross your heart figure is nearer six.'

"That's fine," said their guest,
'but it's not just what I meant. How much territory do you cover?'

"Heads were scratched. 'Why'
ventured the conscientious citizen.
'I s'pose this man's town's about a mile or a mile and a half each way—ain't it Jim?'

"Every bit of two miles," averred
the generous James.

"Still you don't seem to gather,"
patiently pursued Mr. Watson.
'Where does your trade come from?
How much of the country around here do you serve?'

"Oh! That was quite another matter, and the reception committee explicated comprehensively on the length and breadth of Trenton's sphere of commercial influence.
They told their visitor that Trenton drew trade from pretty much
all of Grundy and part of the adjoining counties. Indeed, the optimist was invading southern Iowa
when the visitor gently interrupted.

"Trenton ought to be just that big."

"The committeemen looked at each other. Queer notion, that," they thought, but, of course, were too polite to say so. It percolated
a little deeper. 'Good idea', conceded the optimist aloud. Then, as it reached home with all its meaning, the conscientious citizen shouted: 'It's the Trenton Idea!' And so it was.
New Life in the Commercial Club.
'Well, Mr. Watson elaborated on his 'notion' that night at the meeting. He told the Trentonians assembled that enough of them were not present, although the gathering was one of the best that the local merchants had ever held; told them
that more than half the business men of greater Trenton were staying at home that night for lack of specific invitation to the meeting;
told them that they ought to annex the farmer, that he was much of a business man as they; told them that they the man living six miles from the courthouse was as much a member of the Trenton community as the man living six blocks from that building; told them that if they would only convince the farmer that fact, it would mean the greatest advance Trenton ever made.

"His talk took. The Trenton Commercial club rose from its bed and walked. Within a short time
a reorganization was effected. Tom N. Witten, one of the most progressive and successful implement and hardware men in northern Missouri, was chosen president. No better choice could have been made.
E. K. Carnes became secretary. Other officers, of course, were elected.
Then President Witten appointed committees to put the 'Trenton Idea'
to work. It has been working ever since.

"When the club was reorganized
it had about a hundred and fifty members. These were divided into two friendly camps, seventy-five on a side. A banker headed one, a wholesaler the other. Then these two grand committees started out to get members. They did not confine their canvass within the narrow limits of the town. By this time nearly all Trenton had seen the new light and were following it. And it led them out into the country.

"When the campaign ended a jubilee was held. That function was attended by four hundred and fifty members of the Trenton Commercial club near half of whom were farmers. Naturally the new members from the country felt a little aloof at first. They had joined this club at the solicitation of the people of Trenton and now it was up to the people of Trenton to show them why they shouldn't regret it.

"Such was the attitude of a large number. This thing of meeting the townsmen on the same footing was something altogether new, something for which zeal rest had to be acquired. But zeal came with acquaintance and with considerate treatment on the part of the town members.

"For instance:
'A plan was put on foot soon after the reorganization to replace the wooden culverts on some of the country roads with culverts of concrete that should last for all time.
A farmer, who had just joined the commercial club, walked into the Witten store and said to the propi-etor: 'Say, what are you fellows
going to do about those culverts?'

"Teaching the Farmers to Say 'We.'
'Don't come around here talking about you fellows,' retorted Mr.
Witten, who knew his man. 'As soon as you can learn to say we fellows with a 'healthy' accent on the we, maybe I'll feel like talking to you.'

"That farmer saw the point and grinned his pleasure. Many other farmers around Trenton have since been taught the 'we' spirit through similar corn-belt diplomacy, which is another way of saying that the Trentonians used nothing more mystifying than common sense in their acquisition of new blood.

"Parenthetically, it should be stated that the Trenton Commercial Club, thanks to this new co-operation of its rural and urban members got that culverts. Twenty-nine of them were needed. To get them it was necessary to subscribe $1,400
which sum in accordance with a Missouri law, would then be supplemented by a like amount from the fund created by the money received for state automobile licenses. The money was raised in short order and farmers around Trenton are now driving over culverts that will endure as long as the brooks they span.

"Trenton has learned that the prosperity of the Urban-Trenton depends upon the prosperity of rural Trenton. The community no longer stops at the city limits. It spreads beyond and embraces the greater part of Grundy county. Men from Galt and Spickard have joined the Commercial club. With this broad principle in view, the club has set about to better conditions for its country members. It was argued that this could best be done by promoting the science of agriculture
through the schools. A committee was appointed to confer with the Trenton school board. As a result of this conference, Prof. Longmire,
a graduate of the agricultural department of Missouri University was employed to teach agriculture in the Trenton high school and to act
as scientific adviser to the farmers of Grundy county, his salary to be paid jointly by the Commercial club
and school board.

An Agricultural Counselor Hired.

"This joint action of these two bodies, is no longer an experiment.
It has made good. Last year 22
pupils took the subject of agriculture
at the Trenton high school. Sixty-seven enthusiastic sons and daughters of farmers are now in Prof.
Longmire's classes. Farmers themselves are more interested in the Trenton high school than ever before. Prof. Longmire offered to have his pupils test all seed corn submitted. This offer was gladly accepted by a large number. After the seed had sprouted each farmer was notified when his corn would be uncovered and invited to attend the ceremony. In nearly every case he was on hand to help tabulate the results. It has never required more than one such visit to remove all prejudice a farmer might have entertained against 'book farming.'

"There is nothing narrow about
the membership of the Trenton Commercial club. Every clergyman
in town, Protestant and Catholic,
belongs and participates in its activities. Every doctor in Trenton is appointed a member of the sanitary committee, in hearty co-operation with the city council, has brought about a marked improvement in local sanitary conditions. Through its influence a city dump has been acquired and no trash can be dumped elsewhere. As a consequence every road leading out of the city is no longer made unsightly by great deposits of tin cans, brick bats and other unromantic debris.

"Anybody or any organization that wants to co-operate with the Trenton Commercial club is met more than half way. It takes no stock in the 'whole hog or none'
method of procedure. Of course,

the club stands for good roads, if it stands for anything. So does the local automobile club. Taking advantage of this fact, the two organizations have bought 5,000 pounds of road drag irons for free distribution among the farmers. All a farmer has to do to get a road drag iron is to have his road overseer or rural mail carrier give him an order. That order is good for one set of irons, which makes it possible for every farmer to drag
the stretch of road that runs past his place.

"Can't Reason With a Man When He's Mad"

"Mr. Witten, chief exponent of the 'Trenton Idea' who admits that it was 'stolen' from Mr. Watson, has some opinions concerning the way to gain and deserve a farmer's confidence that are valuable.
'Whatever you do,' he admonishes,
'don't get the farmer mad, don't rough him. You can't reason with a man who is so sore he can't see straight. Merchants should make the farmer feel that when he comes to town he's coming among friends, not pick pockets. Get him to take a broader view of life. Get him to understand that the man who improves his own premises improves his neighborhood. Get him interested in good roads. They're as important to him as any other one thing.'

"There is more than one way to do this. Not far from Trenton
there used to be a particularly bad stretch of bad road. The farmer who owned most of the land alongside it couldn't be induced to drag
it. Several had tried to get him to do so, but they only succeeded in making him mad. However, a friend of mine who owns an automobile brought Mr. Farmer around and didn't even mention good roads.
He knew the farmer well enough to invite him for several short rides in his car. He was always careful to take him over some good roads

and then back over his own bad stretch. The contrast of course, was so great that it took only two or three such rides to get the farmer busy with his drag.

"Through this remarkable rehabilitation of its Commercial club, Trenton is to have a 'White Way'
all its own. When the improvement is completed Trenton will be perhaps the best lighted city of its size in the Union. Telephone poles are being removed from the business portion of the main thoroughfares and in their stead ornamental standards, some bearing three and other five electric globes, will be erected. For thirteen blocks Trenton will be able to boast illumination that will be not one whit inferior to that of some cities with fifty times its population. Main streets will be thus lighted from the Rock Island passenger station
to the courthouse, with a branch
leading to the Jewett Norris library,
one of their civic institutions in which Trentonians take much justifiable pride.

"As an indication of the broad scope of the Trenton Commercial club the following committees, into which its members have been organized, are cited: Public Utilities, Agriculture, Trade (Extension, Legislation, Education and Public Buildings, Finance and Auditing, Membership, Health and Sanitation Industrial Promotion, Civic Improvement, Home Industries, Publicity
and Advertising, Good Roads, Railroads, and Ways and Means. Every member of the club is a member of one of these committees which deal
with every possible phase of community progress."

When you buy an automobile you expect it to look good, run good and stay good a long time, don't you?

It must have plenty of power, be economical in use of oil and gasoline and be easy riding.
You will expect the man that sells it to you to give you all the assistance he can in learning to operate and take care of your machine, thereby avoiding accidents that cause expense and trouble

USE COCOANUT OIL FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

CITY COUNCIL PASSED ELECTION ORDINANCE MONDAY

Salary Question and Anti-Tuberculosis Tax Proposition Will be on Ballot—Women Object to Some Polling Places.

The city council met yesterday morning with all present. A petition for a legal tax for the support of the anti-tuberculosis cause was heard and the question ordered placed on the ballots at the coming election. Mrs. Danskin and Mrs. A. L. Adams were heard regarding the unfitness of some of the voting places and the matter was referred with power to act to Commissioner Newman as the only one brave enough to hear the board of education in their den.

The election ordinance and the ordinance requiring the clerk to prepare ballots on the salary ordinance were advanced to a second reading and adopted. The matter of the North Main street sewer was discussed also.

The Proceedings. After roll call the clerk read a petition signed by 150 persons asking the council to arrange for the lawful tax to be levied for the benefit of the anti-tuberculosis society.

Commissioner Knollenberg moved it be placed on file and the mayor thought that the best way to dispose of it.

Commissioner Newman said he thought taxes in the city were about high enough as they were and no money would be available anyway till next year at best. It would be as well to let the people die a natural death as to be taxed to death.

A resolution was then read to instruct the clerk to have placed on the ballots at the coming election the question shall the city vote a tax of not more than one mill on a dollar for the benefit of the anti-tuberculosis society and on motion of Commissioner Knollenberg it was unanimously adopted.

Mrs. J. H. Danskin and Mrs. A. L. Adams were present and addressed the council regarding the voting places in some of the districts. Mrs. Danskin said it didn't make so much difference where one man voted and acted as election officials but now that women also did both it called for an improvement in some of the voting places, notably Nos. 5 and 7. The voting place at the court house was especially objectionable. It was dark, unsanitary and generally unfit. Some of the other places were in a back room contrary to law, and some had not room enough for the requisite number of voting booths.

owing to a lack of room. She regarded it wholly reasonable to ask for the use of the school buildings as they were the property of the people. In some places the school buildings were used for voting places and for civic meetings also. The council had absolute power to require the use of the school buildings for that purpose and she thought it would be a proper thing to do.

Mrs. Danskin said further she had recently had a conversation with an eminent attorney regarding the salary ordinance which was being discussed. This gentleman had been an assistant to the attorney general and was now looking up the legality of some laws adopted by the state legislature so his opinion was valuable though it might be called horseback but at any rate she said he thought the ordinance wholly out of place and inoperative as the law plainly says the commissioners shall fix their salaries themselves.

The mayor asked Mrs. Danskin if she knew of any desirable places in the wards mentioned that could be had for voting booths but she said she did not other than the school buildings.

The mayor said he didn't have the courage to ask the board for the use of the buildings for voting booths and besides the schools had lost time in the fall and were trying to make it up and would dislike to give up a day for the voting and the council had no power over the board.

Commissioner Knollenberg said if they asked the board for the use of the buildings for voting booths they would be kicked out and he hadn't the nerve to make the attempt.

Commissioner Newman thought there were vacant rooms in most of the buildings but the mayor said if there were any they were upper rooms. He said he had tried to get the council to co-operate with the city in providing voting places and had offered to simply occupy booths or small buildings if the council would join in the expense but they would not. Commissioner Knollenberg declined. Commissioner Newman would do something before next election in co-operation with the city.

Mrs. A. L. Adams said there had been complaints regarding the facilities at Mrs. Gray's house. She thought it possible that the halls in school buildings might be used and not interfere with the schools.

Commissioner Knollenberg said that with an assistant he had spent several days trying to secure suitable voting places and had done his best in the matter.

The mayor wanted to know if any commissioner had courage enough to ask the board for the use of the school buildings for election booths. Commissioner Knollenberg said he hadn't the courage to approach the board and finally Commissioner Newman said he would do so. Then the whole matter was referred to Commissioner Newman with power to act.

Steinberg & Skinner asked for permission to put a gasoline tank in front of their place of business on East Morgan street, agreeing to replace the brick all right when the tank was moved. Granted.

The mayor asked for remarks on the tuberculosis petition. Mrs. A. L. Adams said she was treasurer of the society and funds were low with nothing in sight for the summer work.

Miss Olmsted said of course nothing could be expected for some time for a suitable building but there were cases that needed attention and care over night. She said in many cases the children affected were kept in unsanitary conditions at home and should be provided with better quarters. She knew of one case where two affected children, 9 and 10 years old respectively, were obliged to work till late in the evening and get up at four in the morning and continue to work. Another 9 years old especially needed lodging quarters; two had left the open air school because their parents had moved out of the city limits. If small children affected by tuberculosis are successfully treated they are generally regarded immune thereafter but if not they are likely to die.

The proposed measure would provide some $2,500, which would be a great help. She knew of a mother afflicted and who would endanger her children if they were not taken to a place of safety. About 70 children have been cared for in the open air school but they would be left out when school closes.

Commissioner Newman said he and Commissioner Knollenberg had been a committee to look into the matter of the North Main street sewer. Mrs. Ferguson owned a lot which the city needed and he had offered her another just as good in its place out she was holding out for $299 difference and he regarded it as a hold up and was opposed to giving it and had understood that she said she would stop the creek outlet if $200 was refused. The mayor said the lady would get into trouble if she understood that and Commissioner Newman said the could be stopped by an injunction and moved that the city attorney be instructed to get out the injunction. Attorney Thompson said an injunction could not be gotten out till the lady had carried out her threat, so he was instructed to have the injunction ready to serve in case Mrs. Ferguson did undertake anything of the kind.

Commissioner Newman said he had understood that Mr. Moore had said he would stop up the creek if things didn't go to suit him but the mayor said it would be an unwise thing to do.

Regarding the voting places Commissioner Knollenberg said he thought the county board would work with the city in providing for voting places. The clerk read the election ordinance.

Commissioner Newman asked when the ballots would have to be printed as the change in voting places might have some thing to do with the matter but was told that the ballots would have nothing to do with this matter and the ordinance was adopted.

The clerk read the salary ordinance, placing the pay of mayor at $900 and that of the clerk at $600.

Commissioner Knollenberg wanted to know what could happen if the ordinance wasn't adopted and the mayor said he supposed Dr. Baker would mandamus the council to pass the ordinance though it was up to the court to pass on the legality.

The ordinance was adopted. Commissioner Knollenberg voting no, saying he would have a parting shot at them anyway. Adjourned.

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

Berlin, via London, Mar. 22.—(10:20 p. m.)—An enemy aviator appeared Sunday above Mulheim, Baden and dropped three bombs on the city and the artillery barracks. Three soldiers were wounded.

Paris, Mar. 22.—(5:10 p. m.)—The French battleship Jaureguiberry, which carries among her armament two 12-inch and two 10.8 inch guns, was ordered today to join the French squadron operating against the Dardanelles. The Jaureguiberry will replace the French battleship Gaulois which was badly damaged along the water line by shells from the Turkish forts.

Paris, Mar. 22, via London.—(Midnight)—The following official statement was issued by the war office tonight:

"On the Plateau of Notre Dame de Lorette we hold all the trenches which have been in dispute during the last few days, except one portion ten meters in extent which remains in the hands of the Germans. At Les Eparges, the enemy delivered five counter attacks with the object of recovering positions won by us, but was completely defeated."

"We have made progress to the north of Badonviller."

Berlin, Mar. 22.—By wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News Agency today gave out the following:

"Despatches from Salonika say that travelers arriving there from the island of Lemnos assert that seven British and French warships, which have been damaged in the attack on the Dardanelles, are anchored near the island. A report from Malta says that the British cruiser Amethyst will be disabled for a long time, the injuries to the cruiser having been serious. The Deutsche Tages Zeitung publishes a special despatch from Brussels to the effect that Premier Asquith and Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, in private conversations with members of parliament stated that after Russia and France had become exhausted England would continue the war alone."

Petrograd, via London, Mar. 22.—(11 p. m.)—The following official statement from general headquarters was issued tonight:

"From Memel (east Prussia) to the Vistula and on the left bank of the Vistula there has been no change. Russian troops, which advanced from Tauraggen occupied Laugargarten after an engagement capturing prisoners and engineering stores."

"In the Carpathians stubborn fighting is taking place on the road towards Barteld in the valleys of the Ondawa and Laborca rivers."

near Lupkow Pass and on the left bank of the upper San.

"The Russians have made successful advances. During the last 24 hours we have captured 2,500 men, fifty officers and twenty machine guns. In the direction of Nunkacz, the Germans in dense formation attacked the Russian positions at Rossokhaze, Oravchik and Kosliwaka, but were everywhere repulsed, suffering heavy losses."

There are hundreds of people in this vicinity who have become accustomed to using a key in a box to keep their valuables, who by using one of our SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES will find they are safer, strictly private and more satisfactory in every way. It requires two keys to unlock the box. The customer has one and the bank the other, which is the master key. If you should lose your key, and some one else should find it, it would do them no good, because it would require the master key, which we hold before the box could be opened.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a narrow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a "tired" look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective.

They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Social Activities

Class Gives Rush for Miss Harriet Pierson.

Members of the Brooklyn Sunday school gave a linen shower last evening at the residence of Mrs. Mary L. Dickens, 204 West Greenwood avenue, in anticipation of the marriage of Mrs. Dickens' niece, Miss Harriet Pierson, and Mr. Hugh Vorhees of Woodson. The young people went from the Brooklyn revival service to Miss Pierson's home and spent there a pleasant season of social enjoyment. As a special gift from her Sunday school class, Miss Pierson received a handsome sterling silver fork. The wealth of presents spoke well for the esteem in which the bride-to-be is held by her friends and associates of the Sunday school.

Monday Club in Closing Meeting.

Members of the Monday club were entertained at one o'clock yesterday afternoon at the closing meeting of the season. A delicious three-course luncheon was followed by a grab bag prize drawing and after this the members gave attention to bridge whist. Carnations were used on the dining table and in the house decorations. For the drawing each guest brought a prize and these, placed in a bag at the center of the table, were taken therefrom by ribbons tinted to match the place cards which each member found at her place.

Three Birthdays Were Celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rea entertained a number of relatives and friends at their country home, four miles south of Murrayville Sunday, the date being the birthday of three of their children, Mrs. I. Y. Gibson, aged 26, James, Jr., 25, and Bessie Pauline, 14. At the noon hour an elegant dinner was served and the only regret of the day was that James, Jr., who resides in North Dakota, was not able to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Rea are the parents of seven children, five of whom are married. They also have eleven grandchildren. The annual birthday celebration is an event that is looked forward to with no little interest by the family and the day was most enjoyable spent Sunday.

Gave Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hall, who reside five miles northwest of the city, were given a happy surprise by about forty-five of their neighbors and friends Saturday evening. COLLEGE SOCIETIES HOLD BANQUET AFTER JOINT DEBATE

Sigma Pi Met at Colonial Inn and Phi Alpha at Beecher Hall—Many Old Members in Attendance.

The Phi Alphas took the decision of the joint debate very philosophically and like true heroes didn't let it weigh on their spirits at all but adjourned to the society hall where President Bracewell spoke briefly and to the point and then introduced Carl Robinson as toastmaster of the evening. The latter performed his duties in an able and superlative manner introducing each speaker in a way that made all feed buoyant and merry as if they had won.

A feast was enjoyed and after all had eaten, speeches were made by past and present members, including Messrs. Butler, Nesmith, R. I. Dunlap, Goebel, Bracewell, Green, Mangner and the high school visitors were ably represented by Earl Priest.

The Phi Alpha song sung with a will ended the program. Sigma Pi Jubilee.

'PROBLEMS OF PROFIT AND LOSS' PASTOR'S THEME AT BROOKLYN

Rev. J. M. Beadles, Evangelist and Chautauqua Lecturer, Will Be Here Next Week—Dr. F. A. McCarty Will Speak This Evening.

"Though money may gain a portion of the world for us, we can not hold our treasured wealth," said the Rev. W. W. Theobald Monday night in a strong sermon at the Brooklyn M. E. revival in speaking on "Problems of Profit and Loss." Dr. F. A. McCarty spoke to a well filled house Sunday night, quoting the words of Christ in the gospel of Luke, "Launch out into the deep and let your nets for a draught," and at the service this evening Dr. McCarty again will speak.

The Rev. J. M. Beadles, a well known evangelist and chautauqua lecturer, has accepted the invitation of the Brooklyn congregation to assist in the revival and will begin next Sunday morning.

"If our purpose in life is to gain a world of pleasure," continued Rev. Mr. Theobald Monday evening, "if our purpose is to gain honor or wealth, it will be a devil's world that we gain and it will not satisfy. The world with God left out will be a curse. In exchange for such a world a man gives his all and loses. He loses his influence, for as a worldly minded man he has no influence for good. He loses his opportunity for unto us is given but one chance at life. Through the infinite mercies of God, an old man who has lived in sin all of his days may be saved, but he has lost life's opportunities. He loses all the higher values of life. Peace of conscience he knows not, the highest type of manhood he is a stranger to and eternal life he forfeits."

MR. AND MRS. L. C. MATTHEWS OBSERVE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Were Married March 22, 1865, and For More Than Forty-six Years Have Been Well Respected Citizens of Jacksonville.

A quiet golden wedding celebration took place Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis C. Matthews, 515 East College street, when a few relatives gathered and friends called from time to time to remind Mr. and Mrs. Matthews of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, solemnized in Carthage, Ill., March 22, 1865. Monday was thus the anniversary, but for the convenience of all Sunday was observed instead. Though married in Carthage, the couple came soon to this city and for more than forty-six years Mr. and Mrs. Matthews have been among Jacksonville's most substantial citizens, respected by all with whom they come in contact.

Arthur Matthews, an only son of the pair, was present from Springfield, as was also his wife and two daughters, Misses Marjorie and Marian Matthews. Miss Margaret Kendrick, a friend from Springfield, was present also. From Carthage, Ill., and from various friends in this city generous presents were received and many times Sunday and the day following were the hearts of the couple gladdened by handsome remembrances.

Lewis C. Matthews was born in Vincent, Gallia county, Ohio, October 22, 1839, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Matthews. He came with his parents at the age of eight to Carthage, Hancock county, and with the exception of a few years in the south, resided in Carthage until the outbreak of the Civil War. Mrs. Matthews was born Sept. 20, 1849, in Beardstown. Her maiden name was Hattie E. Kerr and she was the daughter of James A. and Elizabeth Kerr. She went with her parents to Carthage when nine or ten years old and lived there until three or four years after her marriage.

The wedding occurred March 22, 1865, and the ceremony was said by the Rev. B. B. Kennedy, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Carthage. The marriage took place a few months after the groom was mustered out of the Union army where for three years preceding he had seen honorable service. Of the attendants and witnesses at the marriage ceremony, but one survives, William Waggener of the state of Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews have lived in the house where they now reside for thirty-one years.

Mr. Matthews is a well known Odd Fellow and ranks as one of the veteran members of that order. He united with Urania Lodge No. 243, Nov. 30, 1874, and is the seventh oldest member of that body. He is a painter by trade and is still as active as many men of much less age. His wife is in excellent health and goes about her household duties with more than ordinary energy and vigor. Mr. Matthews has four living brothers, Phineas of Ozark county, Mo., Marion Matthews of Jefferson City, Ind., Aaron of Leadville, Colo. and George Matthews of Butler, Mo. Marion, George and Phineas were with Mr. Matthews in the Civil war.

Mr. Matthews enlisted in Co. G, 2d regiment, Illinois cavalry, Aug. 6, 1861. He went to Kentucky, through Tennessee and into Mississippi and saw his first fighting at Union City. At Hollis Springs, Miss. he took part in a severe cavalry battle where the troops engaged with the sabre hand to hand. June 29, 1863, a few days before the siege of Vicksburg, Mr. Matthews was wounded and for several months was out of service. Throughout the Vicksburg campaign he lay in a hospital tent back of the lines and when the fortress surrendered was sent with other wounded to a hospital in St. Louis. He was able to rejoin his regiment in the early autumn of '63 and saw service then until the late winter of '65. He was in the Red River campaign and was in a severe battle at Sabine Cross roads, the culmination of the terrible march through Louisiana.
